

Companies in the veterinary and animal feed sectors require qualified support for the development and approval of their products. KLIFOVET AG, part of the Argenta Group, is an internationally recognised provider of expert services in the veterinary medicine and animal feed sector based in Munich. We support our customers from the idea, through development, to approval and beyond. Service for our customers determines our actions. Founded in 1997, we are considered as a global leader in animal health product development; Argenta and Klifovet have been awarded multiple times as the best service provider or the best contract research organisation in the animal health space internationally.

Like the animal health industry, Argenta including Klifovet is growing continuously.

To support our team we are currently seeking an:

Experienced Manager Regulatory Affairs (m/f/d)

Your role and responsibilities:

- You are responsible for the planning and implementation of regulatory projects aimed to obtain marketing authorisation for animal health products.
- You evaluate documents relevant for approval
- You write dossiers and expert reports
- You develop and implement the best strategy to obtain marketing authorisations for different products incl. non-biological and biological veterinary medicinal products, vaccines and feed additives.
- You have regular contact with experienced experts and authorities.
- You will coordinate the submission of marketing authorisation dossiers to national, European and international authorities.
- You are part of a dedicated team that sees itself and acts as such.

Your profile:

- University degree in veterinary medicine, pharmacy or a comparable natural sciences
- Professional experience in the field of regulatory affairs or relevant other comparable professional experience in the feed, food, health or veterinary industry
- Project management skills
- Independent, structured and team-oriented way of working
- Excellent written and spoken English language skills, other language skills appreciated
- Excellent skills in scientific writing
- Enjoying contributing to the success of the highly motivated team
- Willingness to travel for business (approx. 10% of working time)

We offer you a detailed introduction to your field of work, a challenging field of activity contributing to the availability of animal health products, to work in an international team with modern equipment, a family-friendly working hours, options for continuous education, and a very positive and collegial team atmosphere in Munich.

Please send your complete application including salary requirements and a possible starting date to KLIFOVET AG, Barbara Riedl, Geyerspergerstr. 27, 80689 Munich, Germany, jobs@klifovet.com.

By sending us your application documents, you give us permission to store them electronically, including your personal data, for the duration of the application process. Your data will be treated as strictly confidential and will only be made available to the responsible persons involved in the application process. For further information on data protection, please visit our webpage: www.klifovet.com